

Label economics of certification: active sampling is slower here; costs are contextualized by an information yardstick

